Anticipating that the target audience of young boys might not want to read a book written by a woman her publishers demanded that she use two initials rather than her full name. Rowling was born to Peter James Rowling a Rolls Royce aircraft engineer and Anne Rowling (née Volant) on 31 July 1965 in Yate Gloucestershire England 10 miles (16 km) northeast of Bristol. When she was a young teenager her great aunt who Rowling said taught classics and approved of a thirst for knowledge even of a questionable kind gave her a very old copy of Jessica Mitford's autobiography Hons and Rebels. Of course I am: I could try to cook breads cakes muffins or any other carbs involved project and share at my social media account to risk myself turn into Thor's big bellied image at last Avengers movie for consuming them incessantly like my most friends do till the quarantine ends (it will end eventually right?) Wait a minute I cannot do that! I can only pose with burned or overcooked things if I insist to cook. I can also resume home soccer matches with my husband dearest but there is nothing left called glass at our place and I am still stressed walking barefoot because there may be still a tiny threatening glass piece hid somewhere waiting for me! And of course: After Ozark La Casa Da Papel Tiger King and Unorthodox I couldn't find any appropriate content match with my taste. Interestingly at your each rewatching séance you're catching another detail!) I already told third book is my favorite because it was the last piece that my three musketeers keep their innocence till they take their first steps to the dark side. On contrary I felt blessed because normally I have been finishing a Harry Potter novel in a day (At least I finished the first three books in one day! Correction: First book took me only half day. I went back to my younger dumber self and remembered the times how I cherished the chapters how I thrilled when Harry succeeded and how I flabbergasted after reading the shocking ending. (I hope I won't be at quarantine next time)I recommend you to read the books give you time travel to your happy times at the past so you can handle the daily terrors and find the strength to carry hope into your near future. That's why JKR is one of my all time favorite authors! Fiction Young Adult Fantasy (A) 86% | ExtraordinaryNotes: A tone transfiguration it's so the boy-girl drama bright to start but breaks your heart and ends in tears and trauma. It's Harry Potter and I can reread and listen to them forever!! Mel [] [] Fiction Young Adult Fantasy There is an incredibly somber mood that descends on me every time I finish this book in the series and reading it with the illustrations did nothing to change that. I felt the drawings were impeccable and I loved how some of the characters were reimagined to look a different way than portrayed in the movies my favorite being Mad Eye Moody:

As she had no middle name she chose K as the second initial of her pen name from her paternal grandmother Kathleen Ada Bulgen Rowling. She calls herself Jo and has said No one ever called me 'Joanne' when I was young unless they were angry: Following her marriage she has sometimes used the name Joanne Murray when conducting personal business: During the Leveson Inquiry she gave evidence under the name of Joanne Kathleen Rowling. In a 2012 interview Rowling noted that she no longer cared that people pronounced her name incorrectly. Her parents first met on a train departing from King's Cross Station bound for Arbroath in 1964: Her mother's maternal grandfather Dugald Campbell was born in Lamlash on the Isle of Arran: Her mother's paternal grandfather Louis Volant was awarded the Croix de Guerre for exceptional bravery in defending the village of Courcelles le Comte during the First World War: Rowling's sister Dianne was born at their home when Rowling was 23 months old, The family moved to the nearby village Winterbourne when Rowling was four. She attended St Michael's Primary School a school founded by abolitionist William Wilberforce and education reformer Hannah More. Her headmaster at St Michael's Alfred Dunn has been suggested as the inspiration for the Harry Potter headmaster Albus Dumbledore, As a child Rowling often wrote fantasy stories which she would usually then read to her sister. She recalls that: I can still remember me telling her a story in which she fell down a rabbit hole and was fed strawberries by the rabbit family inside it, Certainly the first story I ever wrote down (when I was five or six) was about a rabbit called Rabbit, He got the measles and was visited by his friends including a giant bee called Miss Bee: At the age of nine Rowling moved to Church Cottage in the Gloucestershire village of Tutshill close to Chepstow Wales: Mitford became Rowling's heroine and Rowling subsequently read all of her books, Rowling has said of her teenage years in an interview with The New Yorker I wasn't particularly happy. She had a difficult homelife; her mother was ill and she had a difficult relationship with her father (she is no longer on speaking terms with him): She attended secondary school at Wyedean School and College where her mother had worked as a technician in the science department: Rowling said of her adolescence Hermione [a bookish know it all Harry Potter character] is loosely based on me, She's a caricature of me when I was eleven which I'm not particularly proud of. Steve Eddy who taught Rowling English when she first arrived remembers her as not exceptional but one of a group of girls who were bright and quite good at English. Sean Harris her best friend in the Upper Sixth owned a turquoise Ford Anglia which she says inspired the one in her books, {site_link} It is the summer holidays and soon Harry Potter will be starting his fourth year at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry: Harry is counting the days: there are new spells to be learnt more Quidditch to be played and Hogwarts castle to continue exploring, But Harry needs to be careful - there are unexpected dangers lurking. Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire (Harry Potter #4) One of my favorites in the series, Fiction Young Adult Fantasy Don't mind me just crying my eyes out: This was WAY better than I remember it being and I remember it being pretty darn good: Rowling is a writing goddess and I can't believe how much foresight and planning went into this series. She already hints at the horcruxes and many other things in this book that don't show up until much later. Definitely one of my favorites in the series (but I say that about all of them)! Fiction Young Adult Fantasy Um: That was freaking FANTASTIC!!!! Probably my favorite so far just wow oh my gosh, WHAT EVEN!! I feel empowered and sad at the same time (sad because, 5/5 stars of course! Fiction Young Adult Fantasy This series has taken a damn TURN! Deep and layered it goes down smooth never seeming overly complex, Fiction Young Adult Fantasy

I know what you think: Don't I have anything to do instead of rereading 750 paged long book on my weekend. I'm already working on three books but on weekends: I'm suffering from melancholy and I prefer to do something make me happy in the past, (Like keep watching Shaun of the Dead Big Lebowski and Fight Club. A big death will shake them to the cores and everything about their life will change forever: This is one of the darkest more action packed gripping thrilling but also heartbreaking book of the series: When I first read it nearly 20 years ago I didn't get intimidated when I see the page numbers, Thanks to my fast reading technique I improved at college years!)Book's longevity was great news, I could spend more time in Harry Potter's world!After reading the whirlwind Quidditch Cup competition parts I adored blooming creativity and visionary scenes written by JKR. I adored it again and I promised myself to read it another 20 years later: Fiction Young Adult Fantasy *To read more reviews by me visit Views & Reviews *I seriously have no idea why I still review these books when I have nothing new to say. So what I'm going to do is I'm going to show you how I felt about this book:When I started the book:During the book:At the end: Umm, Fiction Young Adult Fantasy Here's some pics from the new Illustrated Edition! I have no idea why this didn't show as being read but who cares. Now the long wait for the remainder of the illustrated editions.K.K. Her mother Anne was half French and half Scottish. They married on 14 March 1965. I think it's a dreadful time of life.The ending always gets to me and breaks my heart. J.K. Wow. Yeah.you know).youtube.com/watch?v=AEqu8.And this book is the beginning of the dark side. This is the middle part of long installment. I mean. J.K. Rowling is perfect. This series is perfect. And I dream day & night of going to Hogwarts. Mam Rowling.All in allSorry for the lame review readers. I just really don't know what to say. :(Fiction Young Adult Fantasy.
