

A Killing Rain: The Global Threat of Acid Precipitation By Thomas F. Pawlick Pawlick has than thirty five years of experience as a journalist and editor specializing in science environmental and agricultural reporting. Book running in the rain He is a three time winner of the Canadian Science Writers' Association National Journalism Award and has won the National Magazine Award for agricultural reporting, A Killing Rain nonfiction books A Killing Rain: The Global Threat of Acid Precipitation

[1]

Thomas F. He lives on a 150 acre farm in eastern Ontario